Mental Health Stepped Model of Care

Stakeholder forum for primary health service providers

Event details

Eastern Melbourne PHN (EMPHN) invites you to a mental health stepped model of care forum for current and potential primary health service providers.

This forum will provide an update on the Stepped Model of Care and how this is aligned with the vision of system reform articulated in the Australian Government's Contributing Lives, Thriving Communities - Review of Mental Health Programmes and Services.

Continuing our commitment to co-design, we will also explore responsive care for people experiencing and recovering from mental health issues, as well as the impact of EMPHN's future Stepped Model of Care on stakeholder's current business practices and working arrangements.

The forum will include a presentation by Adjunct Professor John Mendoza who is currently working with EMPHN to refine its Stepped Model of Care. John has specialist expertise in service planning and development, experience in the area of mental health and suicide prevention, and has been involved with advisory groups to government.
