Breakfast with Dr Kate Taylor

Dr Kate Taylor was recently named as one of Telstra Health's Brilliant Women in Digital Health.

Come and hear her journey from training at the Austin and Eye and Ear Hospitals to founding Oculo, the digital clinical communications used by the majority of eye care professionals across Australia.

She will reflect on digital health innovation, the co-design process to bridge optometry, ophthalmology and primary care, the challenges and key success factors for implementation and global learnings and future opportunities to improve patient care across community and hospital eye services.
