

Accredited CPR Providers

As at time of listing, the following providers are qualified to offer CPR education to meet the RACGP requirements for the triennium. GP participants will qualify for five CPD points upon completion of the course. Practice nurses will qualify for one CPD point per hour of tuition.

When booking, please confirm with your chosen provider that they fulfil RACGP accreditation requirements for CPR training which state: 'CPR training for administrative staff can be conducted by an accredited training provider, or by members of the clinical team, if appropriate. These clinical team members must have a current CPR instructor's certificate that complies with Australian Resuscitation Council (ARC) guidelines on instructor competencies. The ARC requires that CPR trainees physically demonstrate their skills at the completion of the CPR course. CPR training that is completed solely online does not meet this requirement.'
