

Community Forum Event

Cancer Survivorship

‘Over 1 million Australians are living with, or beyond, their cancer diagnosis.’ –Peter Mac Cancer Centre.

Cancer survivors in our community are needing allied health support to better manage their health. Health care needs vary across the cancer journey and this forum will unpack how community health can support survivors to live well after cancer. Hosted by our Good Life - Cancer Survivorship project team, speakers include:

Prof Michael Jefford Director of the Australian Cancer Survivorship Centre (A Richard Pratt Legacy at Peter Mac), Consultant Medical Oncologist at Peter Mac and Professorial Fellow at the University of Melbourne.

Jane Auchtetl Coordinator of Education and Training Programs at Cancer Council Victoria.

Rebecca McIntosh Project Manager, Good Life – Cancer Survivorship, Carrington Health.

This event will cover:

- The cancer care trajectory - where does survivorship care fit?
- Models of care, optimal care pathways and clinical guidelines that guide survivorship care.
- Shared care and allied health’s role in survivorship care.
- Survivorship care planning and directory
- Cancer Wellness Program.
- Latest resources for clinicians and cancer survivors.
