

Designing mental health services with general practice: focus group

The semi-structured, interactive focus groups aim to gather your wisdom, expertise and feedback to help shape an integrated system of mental health services for your patients.

Event content

Eastern Melbourne Primary Health Network is undertaking a review of mental health programs and redesigning the mental health stepped care model. The mental health stepped care model aims to provide a person-centred approach and a spectrum of services to support people with mental health concerns. Ensuring the model integrates with general practices and aids general practitioners is a priority. Therefore, we are keen to learn about your needs and preferences so we can design our MH Stepped Care Model to support your work in caring for your patients who present with mental health concerns.
