ED diversion project – stakeholder forum

For GPs, medical deputising services, hospital EDs and RACFs

EMPHN is committed to finding innovative solutions to alleviating the burden on hospital emergency departments in our catchment by fostering strategies to divert patients presenting with conditions that could be managed in a primary care setting, particularly in the after hours. This forum will provide an opportunity for ideas to be discussed with representatives from the Austin, Eastern, Northern and Monash Health services, together with general practices and supported and funded by Eastern Melbourne PHN.

Event Overview

Presented by:

Susan Rice, Lead - Sector Capacity & After Hours, EMPHN

Facilitated by:

Nicole Amsing, Nicole Amsing Consulting.

Nicole has a deep understanding of the health and primary care systems, and has a well developed understanding of the reforms occurring in primary care, and hospital based care and the importance of the interface between them.

The Goal:

A starting point for a collaborative approach to ED Diversion, this forum will provide an opportunity to present issues from a variety of perspectives and to discuss and debate strategies to be implemented.
