How can digital health technologies assist to improve clinical care?

For physiotherapists, podiatrists and dietitians

This session will provide an overview of evolving digital health technologies such as My Health Record and secure messaging and their potential to improve communication between healthcare providers and contribute to improved patient care.

Event details

Eastern Melbourne PHN is hosting an interactive session for allied health professionals focusing on:

- My Health Record and its core functionality that allied health professionals may leverage to improve care coordination
- role of secure messaging in clinical practice
- opportunity to network with peers and Q&A.

Presented by:

Vandana Chandnani (B.pharm, MPH)
Australian Digital Health Agency

Vandana is a public health professional with a background in Pharmacy.

As a Clinical Use Lead and Senior Research Specialist at the Australian Digital Health Agency, she works closely with health providers to develop and implement localised digital health strategies, primarily focusing on the use of the My Health Record system within primary care workforce.

Vandana has over 13 years' experience working within the health sector and brings in-depth understanding of our current health system, potential challenges and how tools like the My Health Record system may assist with care coordination in routine practice.
