Benchmarking for Practice 2030

Leadership and change management

The effectiveness of leadership is directly related to the environment it operates in. The modern work environment is more diverse, more competitive, more technologically changing and challenging than before. The Leader, in today's environment, must be able to strategise and connect, bringing their team along in a meaningful, engaged and results-orientated manner.

Event overview

This workshop will focus on practice learning and a foundation to make behavioural and skills-based improvements that will assist the leader to not only fit into but thrive as a modern leader.

Learning outcomes

- Understand the leadership mindset and competencies to effectively lead the organization, self and team
- Develop significant depth in understanding and capability of modern leadership concepts
- Effectively influence their team and stakeholders
- Understand strategic and tactical needs
- Apply greater skill and abilities in areas such as communication, adaptability, accountability, authenticity, change management and self-awareness
