

A Practical Guide for GPs
AVAILABLE 14TH APRIL 2021

Borderline Personality Disorder

A Practical Guide for General Practitioners

Spectrum is pleased to launch their new book “Borderline Personality Disorder - A Practical Guide for General Practitioners” edited by Josephine Beatson and Sathya Rao. This book is a great resource for General Practitioners who treat patients with Borderline Personality Disorder.

“ This succinct readable text is an excellent and timely addition to the library of educational resources and education for all practitioners – especially for students and registrars seeking an understanding of a complex area of human behaviour. The authors are to be commended on this initiative which is so comprehensively researched and presented. It is recommended that this area of mental health, hopefully in time, can be expanded to include other similar conditions under the category of dramatic or erratic personality disorders.

Emeritus Professor John Murtagh AO
Monash University

You can purchase your copy here:
www.spectrumbpd.com.au

PURCHASE
PRICE
$55

