IT security in general practice

For GP principals, GP IT support and practice managers

Event Details

Security is a key foundation for information technology. With the increased use of technology comes an increased need to be aware of keeping health information secure. Join us for an explanation of the key components of a medical IT network, potential threats and simple solutions.

Presenter

Presented by Jim Doumakis

Director, Jose Health IT

Jim Doumakis has worked in IT security for over 25 years and Health IT since 2002, providing advice on large complex networks and databases, and to sole practitioners.

Topics Covered

- what is a medical IT network?
- potential threats to the network?
- simple solutions and how to protect your network
- current case studies.
